FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To the Citizens of Old Orchard:—

The annual reports of the officers of the Free Public Library are herewith presented for your consideration.

The Librarians, three at different times during the year, have each taken hold of their duties with commendable zeal and a painstaking interest.

They have spent much time in the library cleaning the rooms and re-arranging the books on the stacks and shelves. Mrs. Yates, especially, has put her knowledge of the systematic arrangements of public libraries into good use, and with the completion of registering and cataloguing the books, the library will be in excellent condition.

Many books have been added to the library during the year by purchase, also a few periodicals. But there is room for many more and should any persons have books or periodicals which they would like to donate, such donations will be gratefully received.

The librarian states that there is quite a request among the readers for a printed catalogue of the books. This no doubt would be a great convenience, and the matter is in the hands of the citizens to supply, only the expense should not come from the regular appropriation for the library.

The library seems to be well patronized. It is especially gratifying that so many young people are availing themselves of its benefits.

Much time is spent by them in the reading room poring over the periodicals, and they are also very eager for books for home reading. More books are needed for the boys and girls, and in order to get them, and also to supply the other demands, more money is needed.

The officers also need the help of the parents and the teachers in making good selections of reading matter.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES B. HARPER,

WM. E. C. RICH,

S. C. HORN,

Trustees.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

To the Trustees of the Old Orchard Public Library:—

Gentlemen:—The Librarian's report, being the report for the year 1916, is presented for your consideration.

Total number of volumes,	5,890
Volumes added by purchase,	134
Volumes added by gift,	11
Volumes lost in circulation,	5
Cards issued,	113
Present number of card holders,	3,816
Largest circulation (March 18th),	134
Smallest circulation (December 16th) ,	36
Visitors to reading room,	2,317
Total circulation,	7,924

A new cabinet has been added and the cataloging system, which is the Dewey, has been thoroughly regulated. There is a great call for printed catalogues and I hope we can supply the demand in the near future. Our reading room is greatly appreciated, especially by the young people. We have a fine selection of magazines. All the boys and girls of the town take books from the library and we need a lot of new ones as they have read and re-read all there are. We sincerely hope the town will give us a generous supply of money so we may buy our young people a lot of books.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARA M. YATES,

Librarian.

REPORT OF CHIEF OF FIRE DEPARTMENT.

To the Selectmen of the Town of Old Orchard:—

I have the honor of submitting to you my seventh annual report for the year ending January 31st, 1917. Everything under my care is in first-class running order. We should purchase at least 500 ft. more hose the coming year, and we ought to have more room for the trucks, as we are very crowded for space.

Thanking you for your courteous treatment in the past and hoping to receive the same in the future, I remain,

Yours respectfully,

HARRY W. RICKER,

Chief of Fire Dept.

REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH.

To the Citizens of Old Orchard:—

Owing to the large increase of summer visitors over the previous years this department has been obliged to overdraw its appropriation. This was absolutely unavoidable. The town is growing, business is increasing, so is the rubbish. Epidemic would be disastrous, in order to avoid this and keep up with the increasing demand for a higher sanitation, there must be a corresponding increase in the appropriation each year.

We would again ask the voters for the same appropriation that was asked for at the last town meeting, but which was not granted, that is $1,600.

Respectfully,

FRANCIS P. WEYMOUTH,

SAMUEL McCLELLAN,

ARTHUR M. CHASE,

Board of Health.

SCHOOL REPORT.

To the Citizens of Old Orchard :

In this, my third annual report of the schools of Old Orchard, I am pleased to state that the progress along all lines has been satisfactory. No radical changes have been made in the courses of study or in the methods of handling the pupils. Rather, we have been pursuing an even course, increasing the efficiency of the work, watching developments and laying the basis for further changes which we believe will work toward better training for pupils in all grades.

COMMON SCHOOLS.

During the summer, several changes were made in the Primary School building, which have added to the comfort of teachers and pupils by eliminating the bad sanitary conditions which have existed for a long time.

We have introduced into the language studies, a new series of text-books which, by using a more natural method of teaching, will produce better results in grammar, spelling and the use of correct speech. The Harvey's Essentials of Arithmetic, which were introduced during the previous year, have been extended to all the schools.

During the last Spring term, we also attempted for the first time, some slight training in handwork in the elementary schools. This work proved its value from the start, not only in the fine quality of work done, but also in the interest which it aroused among the pupils. The exhibition of the work which was held during the term was a source of pride to parents and friends and of gratification to those who trained the pupils in the work.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Last June, after looking over the work accomplished during the previous year, we felt that some changes in the curriculum were absolutely necessary in order to save some of our pupils from merely drifting. We found that we had too much of the abstract and too little of the concrete. To remedy this, we introduced Biology. We also introduced Commercial Arithmetic as a foundation for a business course. Through such studies as these, the student learns by doing and gains the value of doing. We also introduced medieval and modern European history, as a connecting link to make our course in history complete. Within the last few weeks, we also introduced a course in Literature to fill an undesirable gap in our training in English.

I have included with this report an outline of curriculum in the high school as at present organized. We believe that since this course not only allows a pupil to prepare for college, but also offers great advantages for the non-college pupil, this is as good a course as could be arranged in a two-teacher high school.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

During the coming year, we wish to aim toward greater unity in the education of the pupil. We feel that the greatest fault in our present system is the gap between high school and elementary school and our first recommendation this year is to so change the studies in the two upper grades of the grammar school and the first grade of the high school as to make the high school more attractive to the pupil and to make his entrance into that school easier and more natural.

To do this, we would suggest that the seventh and eighth grades be taken from under the supervision of the grammar school and put under the supervision of the high school. By this system, it would be possible for the pupils in these grades and the pupils in the first grade of the high school to have certain courses in common. This group of grammar school and high school pupils would become an intermediate or junior group. This would change the traditional "jump" from grammar school to high school to an easy and natural step. It would also accustom the pupil in the higher grades of the grammar school to the system of elective courses and to the freer methods of school room conduct which are so valuable in increasing his self-restraint. We would also suggest that a new teacher be added to the teaching force, if only as a part time teacher. This together with the additional room which would be available for common use between the three upper classes of the high school and the junior group, would make it possible to introduce some such needed courses in handwork which would be open to members of the junior group. If the additional teacher was required by the junior group for only a part of her time, she could be used for additional work in the lower and primary grades, spoken of below. By this system, we believe that more pupils will be saved for high school education and thus better equipped for life.

As a second recommendation, I urge with all the earnestness within me, that something be done to improve the educational facilities in our Primary Department, along lines as suggested in my report of last year.

The years in the primary school are the most critical of the child's life. Not only is this the period in which the memory and imitative powers are trained the most easily, but of more importance still, it is the period when habits are formed that will go far towards the child's equipment for future usefulness.

Our needs along lines of school equipment will depend largely upon the action taken on the above recommendations.

In closing, I wish to especially commend the faithful services of our janitor, Mr. E. E. Googins, who at all times has labored to keep our school buildings in a first-class sanitary condition.

During the year, I have received great help from the school committee, teachers, officers of the town and citizens. I desire to thank all for their kindness, consideration and support.

Respectfully submitted,

F. H. B. HEALD,
Superintendent.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

To the Citizens of the Town of Old Orchard — .

We submit herewith, the annual report of the several officers and heads of departments for the past year.

We have tried as your officers to carry out your several votes and instructions as given at the last annual meeting.

We do not need to go into detail as each department will speak for itself.

We entered into a new contract with the York Co. Power Co. to furnish the town with lights for another term of five years, at a reduced rate per light of $2.50 for those burning throughout the year.

The sidewalks contract was again let to J. H. McAffe of Portland who has done the work in a very satisfactory manner.

The public toilet so long talked of seems now to be nearer a matter of fact than for some time. As the Boston & Maine has recently made a very satisfactory proposition and we are also quite well assured that through the combined efforts of several citizens, we will have a greatly improved railroad station for the coming season.

Let us work together for the best interest of the town, stop knocking and boost — always boost.

Respectfully,

P. H. LOMBARD,
FRED J. LANE,
MONTROSE E. HILL,

Selectmen.
